UK Outlook for Friday 26 Nov 2021 to Sunday 5 Dec 2021:
Friday the 26th will likely bring cloud, rain, and strong winds to the northwest extending south to affect many areas through the day, some rain may fall as snow on higher ground in the north. Scattered showers likely to follow later. Feeling rather cold, accentuated by strong winds with coastal gales possible in the northwest. As the period continues winds will be typically from the north and northwest allowing cold conditions to persist. High pressure is likely to sit to the south or southwest of the UK, so rain and showers are more likely in the north, these could be wintry on high ground and perhaps at lower levels at times. Likely drier at times in the south and rather cold at times, with overnight frost likely.
